PARIS NEGRO CONFESSES AUTO THEFT

William Clark, 16-year-old negro boy, of Paris, arrested at Mt. Sterling by Chief of Police J. C. Tipton on advice from the Lexington police department and brought to Lexington on a charge of stealing an automobile, was held over by County Judge E. H. Doak to await action of the grand jury in juvenile court.

When Clark was arrested he had in his possession a Ford touring car which was identified as a machine stolen from W. S. Perkins, of Lexington.

Clark confessed to stealing a roadster, the property of J. Connors, of Bourbon county, from its parking place in Lexington on July 22, according to police. Clark said he sold the roadster to a negro at Richmond named Reuben Walford.

Clark stated that Walford promised to pay him $55 for the car, $20 of which was paid at the time of sale and the rest in smaller installments. The car, which is practically new, was brought back to Lexington.

HANCOCK HORSES SCORE IN SARATOGA RACES

A special dispatch Tuesday from Saratoga Springs, New York, to the daily papers, says:

"Arthur B. Hancock, the Bourbon county breeder, who will sell his great band of yearlings here next Friday night, is wearing a broad smile as he mingles with Eastern turfmen around Saratoga these days for the horses that romp daily over the race course here are giving his breeding genius the kind of advertising no money could buy.

"Last Saturday Martinage, a product of his Bourbon county stud, won the classic United States Hotel Stake. On Monday, Edict, another of the yearlings he brought here last August, won the Schuylerville and this afternoon Blazes and Ten Lec, two more thoroughbreds he sent to the turf scored impressive victories over their respective fields in the Delaware handicap and the Congress Park purse."

KENTUCKY MOTOR FEDERATION FORMED

The Kentucky Motor Federation, a State Federation of automobile clubs, was formed at Lexington, Wednesday at a conference at which representatives were present from Maysville, Falmouth, Cynthiana, Paris, Winchester, Covington and Lexington. The headquarters of the new State association will be maintained in Lexington.

Harvey Myers, of Covington, was unanimously chosen as president of the federation. Judge Denis Dundon, of Paris, and Judge A. H. Barker, of Falmouth, were the unanimous choices for the offices of first and second vice presidents, respectively. F. K. Augsburg, of Lexington was named as temporary secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Directors named by the permanent organization committee included Samuel B. Walton and Chas. T. Crowe, Lexington; Gus Brooks, Maysville; Judge Denis Dundon, Paris; H. Clay Smith, Cynthiana; Judge A. H. Barker, Falmouth, and Harvey Myers and T. R. Morgan, Covington. The foregoing officers were elected to serve until the first annual meeting of the board of directors.

Directors named by the permanent organization, composed of Mr. Myers, Judge Dundon, Judge Barker, Mr. Walton and Mr. Smith, recommended the adoption of the constitution with the provision that it would remain open for amendment until the next meeting, in order to give other counties a chance to form auto clubs and participate in the movement. The next meeting was called for Friday, September 1, in Lexington.

Those from Paris who attended were Denis Dundon, Harold Harris, Secretary of the Paris Commercial Club, and J. Withers Davis.

OVERHEATED BEARING CAUSES SLIGHT BLAZE

An alarm from Box 12 yesterday afternoon called the fire department to the Paris Milling Co.'s plant, in East Paris. An overheated bearing on a blow pipe carrying chaff from the mill ignited the chaff, causing a slight blaze. The fire was extinguished with chemicals, the damage being insignificant.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

With rejection by strikers of the President's latest proposal clearly in prospect, the indications are that the President plans drastic steps to solve the rail problem. He has called upon the House leaders to see to it that there is a full attendance when the House resumes its sessions Tuesday, and it is insistently suggested that he will call upon Congress to grant him authority to take over control of the railroads as was done in war times.

The striking unions have prepared their reply to the President, and will submit it to the heads of the railway brotherhoods who will be in session in Washington to-day. Their approval of the reply is expected and it will then be sent to the President.

To-day also, the heads of 148 railway systems will meet in New York to determine upon their acceptance or rejection of the President's plan. With the striking unions rejecting it, acceptance by the executives would not prevent the situation again being one in which the President must act.

In the meantime the effort of the Southern Railway Company to settle the strike on its lines has failed. The strikers have notified the officials of the Southern that they will not enter into any plan for adjustment until the strike is settled nationally.

The President in his latest proposition to the railroads and the striking shopmen has found the "safe and sane position of fairness and conservatism." Chairman Ben Hopper, of the United States Railway Labor Board, so announced yesterday.

On many railroads, he said, the plan can be carried out without any inconvenience. Over 75,000 shopmen had been laid off before the strike, the statement adds, and with the increased work now available so many men will be needed that "on a very large number of roads, in my judgment, the question of seniority would never arise."

GOVERNOR SAYS FORD'S PLAN IMPRACTICABLE

Gov. Morrow advised E. G. Liebold, Henry Ford's secretary, at Detroit, that conditions at Corbin are such that the Ford plan of operating the Corbin shops of the L. and N. Railroad Company and the Eastern Kentucky coal carrying lines is "thoroughly impracticable." The Governor's telegram, which was sent from his office follows:

"Find shopmen and other railroad employees at Corbin would not accept or work under offer as made by the Ford railroad. I am confident the proposition cannot be worked out at either end of the working lines and is therefore thoroughly impracticable."

Governor Morrow was at Corbin, center of a great southeastern Kentucky coal producing area and the point where the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops are located. The railroad situation at Corbin is regarded as the key to moving coal out of that section.

OWNS LARGE FACTORY

Joseph P. Endris, formerly of Paris, is now owner of the largest cigar factory in Charleston, Ill., where he has resided many years. Mr. Endris married Miss Josephine Alexander, of Paris, a former member of the Paris High School faculty, and a niece of Mrs. W. H. Anderson and Hugh Alexander, both of Paris. Mr. Endris' establishment was recently visited by a representative of the Government, who compliments Mr. Endris on the success he had made of his business. The industry has manufactured and disposed of 463,000 cigars in the past year, for which Mr. Endris paid to the internal revenue department of the Government almost $3,000 in taxes.

JAIL DELIVERY PREVENTED

Nelson Porter, colored, confined in the Paris jail on a charge of stealing roasting ears from the corn field of Robt. Meteer, near Hutchison, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from jail by the old familiar method with which prisoners have now become acquainted. Porter rolled his bed clothes into a bundle and set them on fire at the base of one of the partitions in the window. Jailer Taylor scented the smoke in time to investigate. Porter was removed to another cell and put in shackles. He had been recently held to the grand jury by Acting Judge Denis Dundon.

GETTING READY FOR "BOOSTER DAY TRIP"

Secretary Harold Harris is in receipt of a telephone message announcing that the ladies of the Presbyterian church at Millersburg will serve the dinner to the Bourbon Boosters on August 30. This is sufficient to assure those who are fortunate enough to be present on that occasion a real old-fashioned dinner. Weather permitting the covers will be laid outdoors in one of the many delightfully shaded grass plots.

Director Kidd, of the Odd Fellows' Boys' Band, informed Secretary Harris that the boys had begun already on an entirely new musical program for the Booster Day.

To date about seventy merchants have signed up to accompany the Boosters, and it is expected to add about fifty more to that number. Anyone who did not sign with the Finance Committee may join the Boosters by making their intention known to any member of this committee or Secretary Harris.

Many cars will be needed, and anyone who cares to volunteer the use of their car for that day will please notify Mr. W. O. Hinton, Chairman of Transportation Committee.

BOURBON GUN CLUB

Twenty-nine shooters were out Wednesday facing the traps and enjoying the afternoon's sport. A nice crowd of visitors was present. The trophy, a handsome smoking set, donated by Shire & Fithian, was won by Amos Turney, with the good score of 99 out of a 100. On Labor Day, September 4, at Hill Top we will have an all-day shoot. This is known as the Blue Grass Championship Shoot, and is registered. Alfred Clay has been having this shoot regularly on this date for several years. Scores:

FAMOUS NOVEL NOW ON THE SCREEN

Stewart Edward White's "The Gray Dawn," when first published in a weekly magazine, created considerable talk in Pacific Coast circles, since it is based on early San Francisco happenings.

"The Gray Dawn" will now be visualized as well as read for Benjamin B. Hampton has adapted the famous novel for the screen, which will be the feature attraction at The Alamo and The Grand Saturday afternoon and night. The story of "The Gray Dawn" has to do with early times in California, and particularly with pioneer residents of San Francisco, who made history in ways that would not be considered entirely proper today, which may account for the book causing a furor among the citizens of the Golden State.

The photoplay is set against San Francisco's romantic background and vividly portrays the colorful history of the then budding metropolis in the period just following the days of the gold rush of '49. Mr. Hampton's screen version of the novel depicts faithfully the life of the great West of that decade.

STATE WILL GET PRIORITY ON COAL

Governor Morrow Tuesday gave out the following statement: "The people of Kentucky need feel no fear of the coal shortage, as it is the intention of the coal committee of Kentucky to see that Kentucky has priority in coal, and to see that ample transportation is secured from the railroads to deliver the priority fuel in the State. The general plan is that public utilities are to be cared for first, together with State institutions, then educational institutions, industrial plants manufacturing necessities and the general public.

"After Kentucky is cared for, all excess coal and excess transportation will be utilized to fill priority orders coming through the Hoover general committee. These priority orders will move only such coal from Kentucky as is not required for home consumption, nor will priority orders take coal out of the State until the necessities of the State have been fully cared for. No firm, corporation or individual will be permitted to accumulate more than a few weeks' supply of coal. This will limit all to only enough coal for current use. The committee asks assistance of all dealers, corporations and individuals in carrying out this plan."

COMMUNITY PICNIC FOR LABOR DAY

Labor Day, Monday, September 4, will be celebrated in Paris by a basket picnic, to be given in Forest Letton's woodland, on the Lexington pike, under the auspices of the Community Service and the Paris Commercial Club. The affair will be given for the mutual benefit of the citizens of Paris and Bourbon county. Music will be furnished by a first-class band. An orator of high repute will deliver an oration, and there will be all kinds of amusement stunts, games, etc., for young and old. The arrangements are rapidly being perfected for making this one of the most enjoyable picnics ever given in Paris.

General Chairman James Connell has appointed the following members of the general arrangements committee: N. Ford Brent, Will G. McClintock, Fennell Galloway, Mrs. Owen L. Daxis, Mrs. James Metcalfe and Dr. D. S. Henry.

DRILLER STRIKES SULPHUR WATER

W. K. Kearney, well driller, of Versailles, who has been operating extensively through Bourbon county in the past three months, struck a fine vein of sulphur water, while drilling on the farm of T. F. Christy, on the Jacktown pike, near Paris. The drill penetrated the limestone and the dark limestone layer to a depth of 117 feet, at which depth the sulphur water came in. The water stands at present thirty-two feet in the well, and is pronounced by those who have visited the place as superior to anything of the kind yet struck in this county. Some time ago while sinking a well on the farm of E. F. Prichard, near Paris, a fine flow of water very closely resembling the Crab Orchard product, was struck.

Mr. Kearney says this is the most peculiar section of the State he has ever worked in, and in view of the present drought he is at a loss to account for conditions that have presented themselves in some parts of the county.

FORMER LEXINGTON WOMAN CERTAIN FOR CONGRESS

Mrs. Louella St. Clair Moss, who was president of Hamilton College, in Lexington, from 1903 to 1909, seems practically certain to be the third woman to sit in Congress, as she was nominated on the Democratic ticket in the Eighth Missouri district, which is practically equivalent to election, it is said. Mrs. Moss, if elected, will share attention in the House of Representatives with Miss Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma, who was renominated. Miss Jeanette Rankin, of Montana, the first woman to sit in Congress, served but one term. Mrs. Moss is now president of Christian College, Columbia, Mo.
